

This graph does represent a function. Even though it looks like the graphs of several functions stuck together, it's still true that every x -value corresponds to exactly one y -value.