

You moved the decimal point two places to the right. Count the number of zeros in 10. The decimal point should only be moved one place to the right.