

When multiplying a decimal by 10, do not add a zero to the right of the decimal. Instead, move the decimal point one place to the right.