The ratio of the unknown width, n, to the length of the photograph is $\frac{n}{24}$. The ratio for the other photograph is $\frac{3}{4}$. Set up a proportion that states that the two ratios are equal, and cross multiply. Don't forget to divide by the number in front of n.