The unknown value is the total number of minutes. Set up a proportion comparing the number of words to the number of minutes. Cross multiply and use division to solve for the unknown.