

The branch of mathematics that uses numbers to represent values.