

The branch of mathematics that uses only variables, not numbers, to represent values.