

Solving for x is part of algebra. In arithmetic problems, you are often given a set of numbers and asked to calculate a value.