

Correct. A number to the left on the number line is less than a number to the right.