

You may have set up and solved the equation correctly, but then did not move the decimal point when rewriting the answer as a percent.