

The basic unit of length in the metric system is the meter. Other words containing "meter" are also units of length in the metric system.