

These units do measure mass, but they are all units of measurement from the U.S. customary system.