

The percent is the number with the percent symbol and the amount is part of the whole. The base is correctly identified as being unknown.