

You may have thought that a liter was only 10 times larger than a milliliter and moved the decimal point only one place to the right, but a liter is 1,000 times larger.