

You need to subtract to find out how much space is left in the bottle, not add.