The number 0 is the additive identity, but this is not an example of the identity property. The identity property says $0 + \text{any number} = \text{that number}$. The correct answer is $0 + (-8.2) = -8.2$.