

You added the absolute values of the two amounts instead of finding the difference between the absolute values.