

You may have correctly added the numbers under par and the numbers over par, but you need to look at which of these has a greater absolute value. The sign of that number is the sign of the sum.