

After 20 minutes the temperature is $-\frac{2}{5}(20) + 78$. You added the change in temperature to the original temperature. But the temperature actually went down. That is, you calculated $-\frac{2}{5}(20)$ and got a positive number. But a negative number times a positive number is negative.