

The part of the expression inside the parentheses has been rewritten by reversing the order of the terms. This cannot be done because subtraction is not commutative. You need to use the distributive property, which says $a(b - c) = ab - ac$. The correct answer is $21 - 7x$.