

Incorrect. Find the difference of the absolute values of the fractions. To do this, you must first find a common denominator. Then give the answer the same sign as the number with the greater absolute value.