

This will simplify the right side. However, it will make the left side more complicated and will not bring you closer to isolating the variable.