

You may have thought you had to reverse the inequality sign because you divided a negative number by a positive, but the sign only changes when you divide or multiply both sides of an inequality by a negative.