

A number and its opposite are the same distance from 0. These two numbers are not.