To rewrite any equation, you must follow the same rules that you learned earlier. For example, multiply or divide both sides by the same number. To isolate $r$ in the original equation, you need to divide both sides by $Pt$. The correct answer is $r = \dfrac{I}{Pt}$.