

You probably simplified the expression in order from left to right. Multiplication and division must be done before addition and subtraction, and in order from left to right. Therefore, in this problem, you must divide first, then multiply, and finally add. The correct answer is 20.