You probably added 16 and 20 first, and then divided 36 by the product of 10 and 2. Multiplication and division must be done before addition and subtraction, and in order from left to right. Therefore, in this problem, you must divide first, then multiply, and finally add. The correct answer is 20.