You may not understand how to find the solution set of a compound inequality with the word and. The solution for this compound inequality is all numbers between 1 and 4, including 4, but not including 1. For example, the numbers 2 and 3 are part of this solution.