

Incorrect. Find the difference of the absolute values of the decimals. To do this, you must first line up the decimals. Then give the answer the same sign as the number with the greater absolute value.