

Simplify each expression on the left side and match it to the exponent of the variable a in the simplified expression on the right side. For example, the first expression simplifies to $2a^4$, so it gets matched to 4, the exponent of a .