

You may have done the correct calculation, subtracting  $45 - (-420)$ , but mixed up the locations. The correct answer is that Athens is 465 meters higher than the Dead Sea.