

You may have subtracted 420 from 45 instead of subtracting $45 - (-420)$. If a place is 420 meters below sea level, the elevation is -420 meters. The correct answer is that Athens is 465 meters higher than the Dead Sea.