

Incorrect. A number and its opposite are the same number of units from 0 on the number line, and have opposite signs.