

The coefficient is the numerical factor of the term. The exponent is the power that the variable is raised to. Remember also that a monomial with no coefficient is the same as a monomial with a coefficient of 1.