

You may have thought you needed to reverse the direction of the inequality symbol because you divided a negative number by a positive number. You only reverse the direction of the symbol if you multiply or divide both sides by a negative number. The correct answer is  $r \geq -5$ .