You may not understand how to find the solution set of a compound inequality with the word and. The solution for this compound inequality is all numbers that are less than 3.