

Incorrect. Solve each inequality for x and see where, or if, the solutions intersect. That intersection is the solution to the compound inequality. If there is no intersection, there is no solution.