Incorrect. Use the distributive property to simplificates that a constant is equal to itself, then the states that a constant is equal to a different constant.	solution is all real numbers	If the simplified equation sim	on simply ply