

Incorrect. Remember that the absolute value of a negative number is the same number that is within the lines, but without the negative sign.