

It appears that you added the exponents and that you did not simplify the numerical factors completely. Divide the variables by subtracting the exponents.