

When you divide the variables, you need to subtract the exponents. It appears that you added the exponents.