The expression is equal to $2^3 \cdot 6^{-2}$. A negative exponent does mean that something is going into the denominator, but you have confused the two factors. The second factor can be rewritten as $\dfrac{1}{6^2}$

The negative in the second exponent does not apply to the factor 2^3.