Incorrect. Apply the exponent outside the parentheses to each factor within the parentheses. Apply the power rule, if needed. Be aware that raising a negative number to an odd or even power is the same as multiplying an odd or even number of negative numbers.