

Incorrect. Apply the exponent 2 to each factor within the parentheses. Simplify, using the power rule, if needed. Be aware that raising a negative number to an even power means that you are multiplying an even number of negative numbers.