

Jennifer starts out the week with $250 in her savings account. During a 5-day work week, she earned the same unknown amount of money each day and put all the money she earned from the week into savings. After five days of work, she earned enough to have a total of $1,250.

Which of the following equations best represents this situation?