Correct. Begin at the origin and move four units in a positive direction (right) along the x-axis. Then move one unit down (in a negative direction). Point D is located there.