

Incorrect. To find points, or ordered pairs, pick an x -value, substitute this in the equation, and find the corresponding y -value. For example, when $x = 0$, $3(0) + y = 5$, so $y = 5$. Plot the point $(0, 5)$. Do this for a second value of x and plot the point that you get. Draw a line through the points.