Correct. Notice that each x-value is four times the amount of the corresponding y-value, or that each y-value equals the corresponding x-value divided by 4. This tells you that when $x = 4$, you get $y = \dfrac{4}{4} = 1$. The missing value of y is 1.