Match the two points of a line on the left with the slope of a line on the right.