

A paleontology group at a museum is made up of thirty-two veteran scientists. Twenty-eight new scientists join the group. Within this new, larger group, equal but unknown numbers of scientists are assigned to fifteen dig sites that they will be excavating.

Which of the following equations best represents this situation?